A Goan Return

- The Homecoming Couple

Sometimes, life just takes you full circle. Rachel and I have been married fiteen years. We shifted to Mumbai years back, and have been there ever since. But the draw of your hometown is far stronger than any life that the city brings with it. So, after our kids started working abroad, we decided to go back to where we came from - Goa. If our lives were a movie, this would be the part where they cut to some peppy guitar music and cut-shots of beaches, paragliding, beer, people in shorts riding bikes, looking tanned as it gets!

Oh and parties, how can we forget the parties!

So, shifting (at least for the time being) to a fantastic plush apartment close to Dabolim didn't seem as bittersweet as we thought it would be. A week later, here we are, in Goa, rediscovering a place that we long since left behind.

First stop - FOOD! Being the insane foodie that I am, I didn't waste a single minute and headed straight down to the beaches for some freshly caught prawns. These guys sure know how to fry some good goan masala! Couple that with a round of beer and some salted cashews by the beach, and you're probably in the best place you can possibly be!

Each evening, we let the cool breeze run through our hair, take a stroll by the church nearby and of course, the customary evening soiree with the neighbours - the place feels just like home - a place we always belonged to. And even when we have our friends from Mumbai come over during the summer for a visit as they go across town partying, the one thing that sticks with us is what we're always told - "Simon, Rachel, we've travelled everywhere, but the one place that draws us back is your home.", and we look at each other thinking, the Goan Return was truly worth it.

RIO-DE GOA

When it comes to describing Goa, no picture would be complete without mention of its lush greens and scenic blues. Rio de Goa pays a lavish tribute to this idyllic beauty of the state.

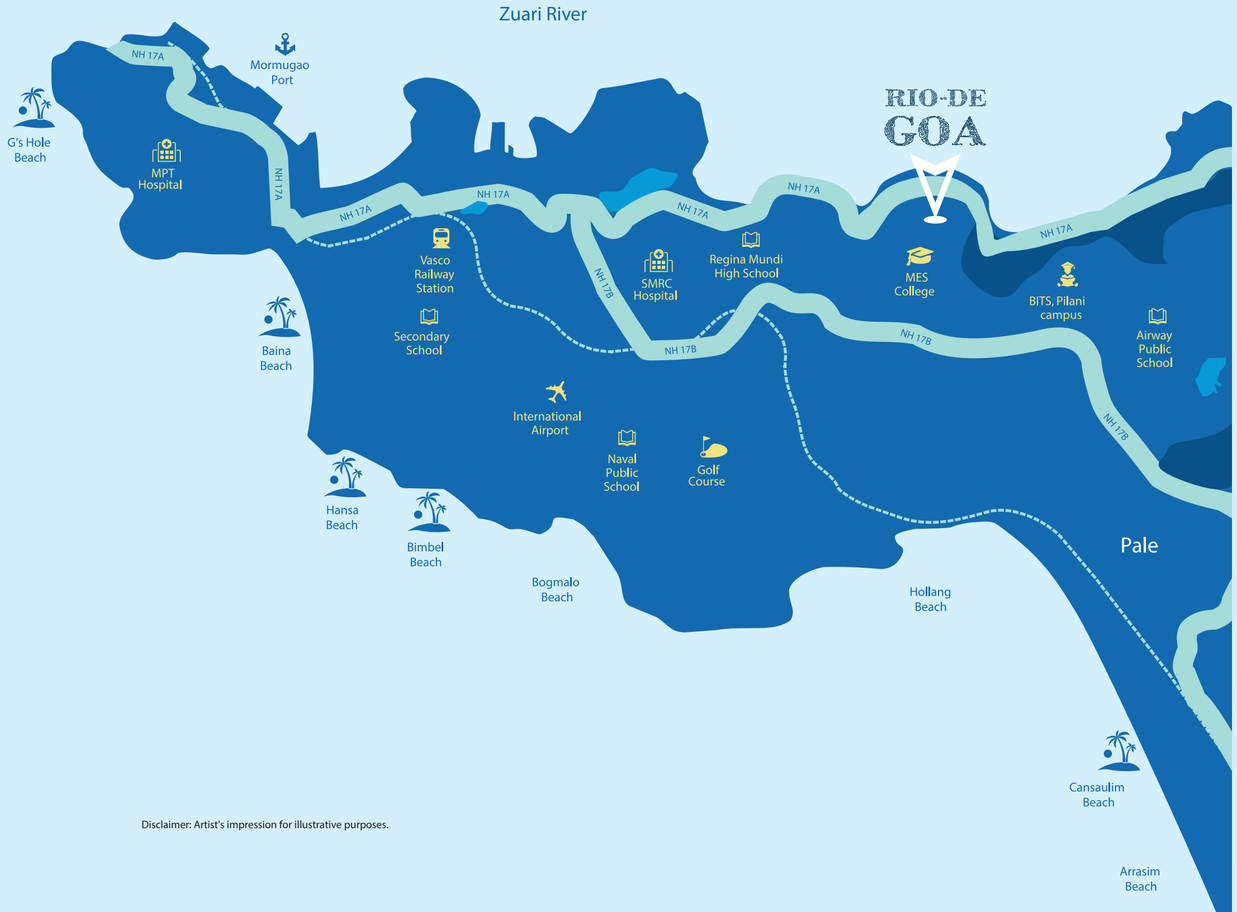

'Rio' in Spanish means river and it is the Zuari River, one of the largest rivers of the state that takes pride of place at Rio de Goa. Located at Dabolim, the residential complex is just 4km from Dabolim airport, situated on the banks of the Zuari that stretches as far as the eye can see.

Rio de Goa has been conceptualized and designed by HB Design which was founded by Hans Brouwer. The firm has a diverse and award winning portfolio that spans high rise residential, commercial and mixed use projects.

Be it the picturesque views, the stately homes, or the easy connectivity, Rio de Goa is your very own island of tranquility that brings the best of Goa to you.

About the Location

In close proximity to most of the popular spots in and around Dabolim, Rio-de-Goa is a perfect place to let your hair down and soak in the sun with a fantastic view of the Zuari River. If partying is your thing, not to worry! There are umpteen things to do around here including water sports, trekking, beach shack parties and even cruises to choose from!

Of Indulgent Evenings and Mornings...

- The Working Professional

Those crazy work hours of building brand structures spares precious little time for your family, doesn't it? And having grown into my company from back when I was a marketing manager, to today, when I'm responsible for marketing strategies across twelve regional branches, work seems to take over. And now that the kids are all grown up, they have plans and super-active social lives of their own.

So this summer, the Mrs. and I decided to take off on our own to a place we can discover the youth in us again. Rio. And this one's right here in India. Our plush seventh-floor 3-bedroom apartment in Rio-De-Goa overlooks the Zuari River. A quick drive from the airport gave us the rest of the day to simply laze around.

She loves evening soirees, and so do I. So, after a lovely stroll down at the beach, we set out to laze about the infinity pool on the terrace with some fine wine from my personal bar (She calls me indulgent, I call myself a connoisseur). It was a perfect blend of relaxation and indulgence. Lounging at the pool deck coupled with a quick evening dive into the infinity pool to just swim to the edge and drink in the view of the Zuari River, we truly felt at the top of the world.

The rooftop had a lovely riverside view and a host of luxuries - and that wasn't just restricted to places to relax, mind you. The next morning, we decided to get back to our daily routine of a solid workout, and the gym didn't disappoint one bit. An intense hour-long workout at the well-equipped rooftop exercise terrace, and we took in the cool morning air looking out into the horizon, not wishing this weekend to end.

Next summer, a family trip is due for sure!

To Infinity and Beyond

What better way to spend weekend siestas or behold a glorious sunset than relaxing on the pool deck, alongside the rooftop infinity pool. Top it off with a candlelit dinner with your loved ones right there at the Rooftop, and the setting is made for a fantastic retreat in a home away from home!

Lounge with a View

Don't feel like taking a dip in the pool? Just head on over to the Rooftop Lounge. Comfortable couches and easy-chairs await you. Get some light-bites from the counter and you're ready to revel in the cool sea breeze and some tasteful conversations. Goa has never felt more like home!

Simple Things

- The Tranquility Lover

Never having been quite the party animal, Goa for me stood for something completely different. While most of the people who come to this beautiful beach-state to let their hair down, grab their fair share of drinks with some friends and get away from the mundane routine of the cities they hail from, my kind of escape is something entirely different.

Goa for me is that part of the state that lets you wake up to birdsong, the first rays of the sun inching their way into your room as you wake up, well rested, refreshed and absolutely relaxed. I usually take a walk to the meditation terrace, stopping only to nod a polite hello to Mrs. Sharma who quite often flies down from Mumbai each summer with her husband to get away from the craziness of having to raise two teens! Well, who am I to judge? Mine are quite a handful too! That's probably the reason why I took up Yoga in the first place.

There's a tranquil spot right beside the zen garden here, called the Yoga deck, where I take my spot at the left corner. A few deep breaths, a clear mind and an hour of rejuvenating myself - perfect!

Back home and curling up with a book for the afternoon seems to be the right thing to do on a day like this. But first, a quick dip in the pool is a must! I got a competition going with the kids out here to beat them at laps, and little do they know I've been training hard! Crazy little monkeys, they are, and I love them. They're just so much fun to be with. Everyday they give a shoutout as they pass my apartment and I'm sitting at the deck at my signature book-and-chai corner as they call it. It's at times like this that you realize how important it is to have a place that provides so much comfort and security that all you need to focus on are the things that make you truly happy. The simple things in life.

A Healthy Mind...

Healthy living is a harmony of a healthy mind and a fit body. Start your day (or even end it for that matter) with a rejuvenating session of meditation at the meditation terrace.

...and a Healthy Body

The fitter you are, the less you tire and the more you can do. Work out to the beats of your favourite music at the fully-equipped gym. Once you're done sweating it out, sweat out some more at the sauna before you cool off for the day. Sounds tempting, doesn't it?

Double Delights!

Introducing the novel yet incredibly simple concept of dual-key residences at Rio de Goa. With a separate key for each of the two parts your home is divided into, it is easier, safer and more convenient to keep your vacation home occupied yet secure, as you want it, the way you want it. With independent entrances to the 2 BHK and Studio sections of your apartment, and included servant's quarter, you can now preserve your home the way you set it up to be. At the same time, we know you may not be around all through the year, but would wish to keep it occupied, especially during the peak of vacation seasons, and we've made it simpler than ever, creating the perfect home that keeps giving, all through the year.
